CHINO HILLS CITY MANAGER ANNOUNCES RETIREMENT

Chino Hills, CA – Chino Hills City Manager Rad Bartlam has announced that he will retire on March 31. He thanked the City Council for their support during his five-year tenure in Chino Hills.

“I’m proud of the work we have accomplished,” said Mr. Bartlam. “I know I’m leaving the City in good hands, thanks to our great team of employees who are dedicated to making Chino Hills the best it can be.”

Mr. Bartlam was hired as the City’s fourth City Manager in February of 2014. The City Council selected him for his wealth of experience and strong background in finance and development.

“The City Council has appreciated Rad’s sharp focus on the City’s long-term financial health,” said Mayor Cynthia Moran. “Our City is on a solid financial course thanks to his leadership and guidance.”

According to Mayor Moran, Mr. Bartlam has worked to provide good guidance to the City Council in support of their goals for the City. She referred to fighting a solar project on the Tres Hermanos property and leading efforts to work with Caltrans and Brea on solutions for Carbon Canyon traffic issues as recent priorities.

Mr. Bartlam’s 38-year career in local government began in 1981 in Community Development. He earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Urban and Regional Planning, and a Minor in Public Administration from California State Polytechnic University at Pomona. He worked for the Cities of Baldwin Park, Glendora, Simi Valley, Pomona, Brea, and Lodi.

The City Council will discuss plans to hire Mr. Bartlam’s replacement at a future City Council meeting.
